JAP LAWSCalifornian Declares Time Has Come For Nation to Make

(By Associated Press)
SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 26.—The attitude of California in opposition to the further coming of Japanese to America is not based upon ill will or hostility to Japanese as Japanese, but is based solely upon economic, social and political grounds, John S. Chambers, state controller, declared here today in an address before the Kiwanis club of San Francisco. The greatness of Japan as a nation, and the achievements of the Japanese along lines of art and industry are recognized, he declared. He discussed the proposed initiative measure, to be voted upon at the November election, to amend the California alien land law.

"It is clearly obvious that Japan plans to dominate the orient and that it is her purpose to do so by forcible seizure. She now controls every eastern gate to Asia. It appears equally obvious that it is also Japan's intention to dominate the American side of the Pacific, with the difference that on this side of the ocean the conquest is planned through colonization, through peaceful penetration, until at least by having gained economic ascendancy and sufficient citizenship through a high birth-rate she would also have political control.

"Two motives are forcing Japan in her scheme for domination. One is militaristic and imperialistic. The other is economic.

"The time has come when this nation must give to the world an other great policy, and that policy is that America is now and always will be a white man's country; that it shall be kept so against armed aggression and peaceful penetration; that the issue is our control of our own internal affairs, including immigration, and that the principle involved is subject to no reservation whatsoever."

Harding Is Favored
By Nevada Editors

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 26.—Nevada's editorial score in the presidential race is 19 to 2—19 editors expressing the opinion that Harding will carry the state this year and two thinking better of Cox's chance. These returns were made on questionnaires sent out by western headquarters of the Republican national committee, which went to all Nevada editors.

Quitting the editors of a state on election forecasts is an old established custom of politics as political students have come to know that of all men in a community the newspaper editor is usually closer to what that community is thinking on public affairs than any other individual.

Summing up the Nevada situation, western headquarters learned that 27

JAMES WILSON
PASSES AWAYSecretary of Agriculture in Three Administrations
Dies in Iowa

(By Associated Press)
TRAER, Iowa, Aug. 26.—James Wilson, former secretary of agriculture, died today at his home here.

James Wilson was head of the department of agriculture for 15 years, during which time he contributed largely to the phenomenal agricultural development of the United States. His long service in the cabinet continued a record. Albert Gallatin, once secretary of the treasury, had previously held the record with service of nearly 13 years.

Mr. Wilson's service, however, was notable for the constructive work which he included, rather than for the remarkably long time which he held the portfolio, with complete acceptability under three presidents of diverse temperaments—McKinley, Roosevelt and Taft.

Mr. Wilson was an Iowa farmer, born August 16, 1835, he was the son of a Scotchman, who left Ayrshire, Scotland, in 1852 to settle his family in the United States. Near Traer, Iowa, the family founded the new home.

His application of science to agricultural practice brought him to such national prominence that President McKinley made him secretary of agriculture March 4, 1897.
